

SECRETARY AND MRS. KNOX. AND CRUISER ON WHICH THEY MADE PAN-AMERICAN TOUR RECENTLY

Secretary Knox Changes His Plans and Comes by Honolulu

the usual honors of side boys, ruffles, guard and band due his rank. Then Secretary Knox will come ashore and call on Admiral Cowles, receiving the salute of nineteen guns accorded to cabinet ministers. What with the call of the Japanese consul, and an official visit from Governor Frear, there will be plenty of noise afloat and ashore.

Accompanied by Mrs. Knox, Secretary Knox is accompanied by Mrs. Knox on the present trip. Both have had plenty of opportunity to get acquainted with naval life, for it was on the cruiser Washington that the Secretary made the first part of his Pan-American pilgrimage, while he was a passenger on the Maryland for the Pacific side of that trip.

The Maryland, which is commanded by Captain John M. Elliott, came to Honolulu last November with the rest of the Pacific fleet, but the Ecuadorian troubles were the cause of her being ordered to South America early in January. Nearly all the officers of the ship are well known here, and their friends ashore are looking forward to the chance of another meeting. Captain Elliott's daughter, Mrs. Ross Kingsbury, resides in this city. The cruiser will coal here, but just what amount she will need to replenish her bunkers has not been announced yet. Probably the grimy job of coaling ship will not be tackled until the official visitors have been received aboard.

The funeral of Emperor Mutsuhito will take place at Aoyama, Tokio, on September 13, and dignitaries from all over the world will be in attendance, all the great nations being officially represented.

On her return trip, the Maryland is expected to pick up Secretary of the Interior Fisher here. Mr. Fisher, it is believed, will then have concluded his investigation of the Kuhio charges and of land matters here and be ready to return to the mainland.

Difficulties were met in obtaining a naval attaché to accompany Secretary Knox on his special mission. Admiral Oscar F. Stanton, retired, declined the invitation on account of ill health. Rear Admiral Aaron Ward then was ordered to go. He asked that the order be rescinded for the same reason.

Then the department ordered Rear Admiral Alfred Reynolds to accompany the Secretary of State. Admiral Reynolds commands the Pacific reserve fleet. He was at the Bremerton navy yard, aboard his flagship, Virginia. The naval attaché joined the party in Seattle August 22.

The plan of having the big armored cruiser Maryland steam direct to Yokohama without stopping was abandoned. Under revised plans, it will stop at Honolulu for coal.

KNOX'S VISIT NOW STYLED IMPERTINENCE

PARIS, August 16.—A Japanese financier, whose official mission in Paris prevents his name being given, in reply to a question by a correspondent as to the truth of the statement that the visit of Secretary Knox to Japan to attend the Emperor's funeral was resented in that country, said:

"Mr. Knox's presence at the Emperor's funeral is viewed by the Japanese, the highest and lowest alike, as evidence of gross bad taste. Evidently the Japanese Foreign Office is unable to say so, as courtesy is a primordial factor in my country. Nevertheless, we Japanese who will see him at the Mikado's funeral will feel that he is in our country on business and that he is working his dollar doctrine. We regarded the Mikado with veneration, and the presence of any business element at the coming sacred rite is to us an impertinence."

P. O. EMPLOYE IN OPIUM RING?

One thing the officials are sure of and that is that the opium could not have come in as ordinary mail matter and been distributed through the postoffice without detection, as the rules calling for the inspection of all parcels from foreign ports are rigidly enforced. It is this that leads the officials to believe that through some agency, the smugglers have been securing possession of the sacks or their contents before they reached the postoffice.

Listed in a Bill of Lading. Against the theory that the opium packages have been diverted from the postoffice at the wharf, it is advanced that all the mail sacks are regularly listed on a bill of lading to the local postmaster and that the fact that one sack was missing would be quickly noted by those in charge. That an extra sack containing the contraband might have been included with the other sacks is possible, but it is stated that this will not hold as to the Manchuria shipment because the sack containing the opium was listed on the bill of lading.

"We are somewhat at sea as yet on this case," said Postoffice Inspector Hare this morning. "There may have been collusion between some one in the local office and the smugglers, and it is very apparent the smugglers had some kind of an arrangement with some one in the postoffice at Nagasaki, but if there has been any collusion here we are certain to learn of it eventually."

Advertising Talks Ad Club Program

Advertising talks on timely topics, apiced with social features were included in the program for future activities of the Honolulu Ad Club taken up at the meeting held Thursday noon in the rathskeller.

George B. Curtis, from the committee on entertainment, reported arrangements for a dance to be held at the Outrigger Club on the evening of September 28, when the members of the club and their friends would have an opportunity for a pleasant social evening. This plan was heartily endorsed by the members, and the committee was requested to continue its good work.

President Farrington, reporting on the program for ad talks made up by Chairman Swift of the educational committee and himself, presented a number of topics treating specifically with advertising, some of which were immediately assigned and the dates for discussion named as follows:

"The Printer's Side of Setting Up Ads," Thursday noon, August 29, L. H. Mesick of the Hawaiian Gazette Co., Ltd.

"Outdoor Advertising," Charles R. Frazier and J. A. Rath, Thursday noon, September 5.

"Parcels Post and Home Buying," George B. Curtis, manager of Jordan's, Thursday noon, September 12.

"Municipal and Political Advertising," H. Gooding Field, Thursday noon, September 19.

"The Value of Distinctive Type in Advertising," J. L. Cooper, manager of the Clarion, Thursday noon, September 26.

"The Value of an Emblem or Coat-of-Arms in Advertising," J. D. Levenson, Levinston & Weill, Thursday noon, October 3.

Other topics for which speakers will be assigned were "Financial Advertising," "Real Estate Advertising," "The Want Ad or Classified Advertising and What Gives It an Especial Hold on the People," "The Pulling Qualities of Mainland Catalogues and How to Deal With Them."

Another feature proposed to promote an exchange of views on advertising and help the business man to solve local problems is the "Question Box." Members are requested to jot down questions that come up in the course of the day's business that are of special interest to them and of value to all those who do with advertising, and either hand the query to the chairman of the noonday lunch or address it "Question Box, P. O. 366, Honolulu." The topic will be brought up and discussed. The writer is not asked to give his name.

With the program outlined the ad club has before it an interesting season of instructive and social activities, and attendance is increasing as members are returning from their vacations and summer business trips.

BOY SCOUTS OF HONOLULU MAY GET TRIP TO HOLLAND

The executive committee of the Honolulu Boy Scouts will meet next Friday evening at the residence of ex-Governor George R. Carter to discuss plans for the coming fiscal year, which begins October 1, and to consider various business matters concerning the organization.

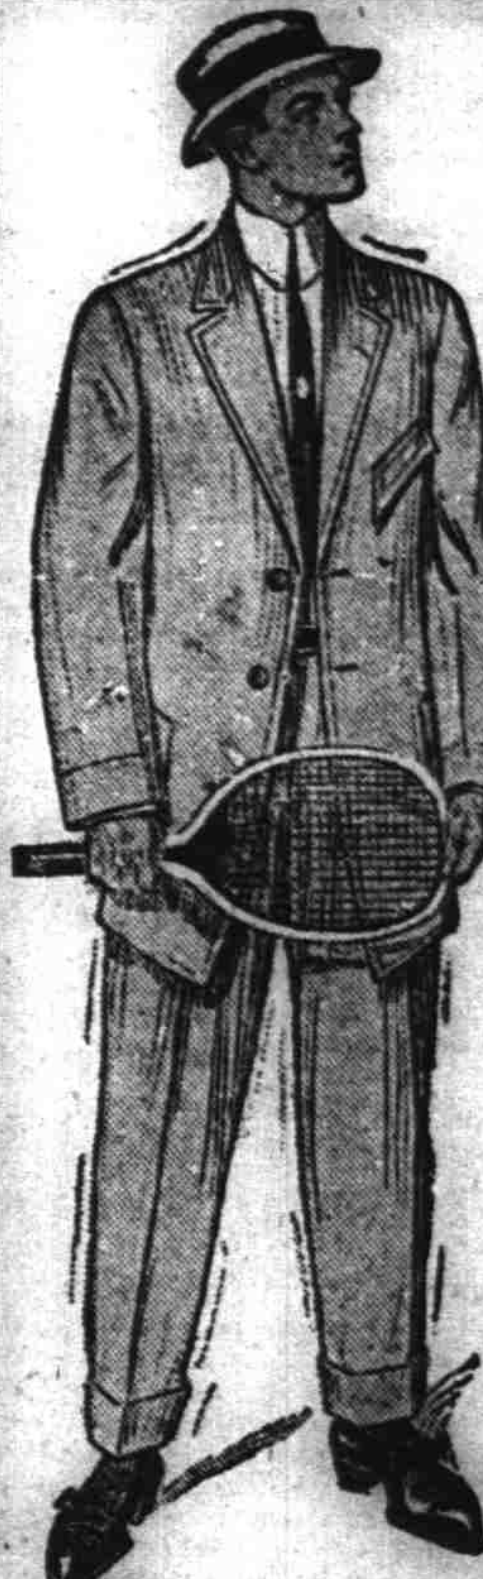

Chief of these latter is the plan to send a delegation to Holland in 1913 to represent the local post at the International Conference of Boy Scouts from all over the world. An invitation has been received by Scoutmaster James A. Wilder from headquarters at New York, inviting the local branch of the organization to be represented at the coming convention, and the matter will be taken under advisement.

AWAKENED IN NIGHT, HE SHOOTS SUDDENLY

Mrs. Emma Armitage, wife of Harry Armitage, was taken to Queen's Hospital early this morning suffering from a slight gunshot wound in the right leg, the result of the discharge of a shotgun by Harry Armitage at their home on Kalia road. Armitage was taken to the police station and charged with assault with a deadly weapon, according to the police, and was released about 5 o'clock this morning on $500 bail. According to the story learned by the police, the affair happened about 1:30 o'clock this morning. Armitage, who was at his office early today, told friends that he was awakened in the night and saw Mrs. Armitage in the room and that two young men were also with her. Mrs. Armitage tells an entirely different story, and so far as the police have been able to learn, she was alone except for Armitage. She says that the gun was fired as she ran from the room, and her husband, admitting the shot frankly, says emphatically that he pointed the gun at the floor, but the carpet was thin and the bird shot, glancing, struck Mrs. Armitage. A telephone call was sent to the police from a neighbor's house, and Mrs. Armitage was taken to Queen's Hospital, while Armitage was detained at the station.

Personal friends say that Armitage was awakened suddenly and undoubtedly imagined he saw others than Mrs. Armitage, but that it is known she was alone in the house except for her husband. Mrs. Armitage's injuries are not regarded as serious.

PRIVATE OWNERSHIP OF RAILWAYS

Certain proponents hold that Government ownership of railways is a progressive policy—the policy of civilization, at it were. Indeed, it has been widely stated that Government ownership of railways has made great strides among the leading nations of the world. But let us see how the facts stand. This we are enabled to do with the aid of statistics recently published in detail by the Railway Age Gazette. At the outset it is apropos to state that the railway mileage of the world on January 1, 1910, was 638,611 miles. Of that sum, 450,639 miles, or 70.5 per cent, were owned by private companies, while governments held 187,972 miles, or 29.4 per cent. Of course, most of the privately owned lines are held in this country, the total thus owned being 210,667 miles. But outside of the United States private companies own 209,922 miles, which compares with 157,932 miles owned by the various states. State ownership holds sway in Europe especially in such monarchies as Germany, Austria-Hungary and Russia; the total state-owned mileage for all Europe being 107,490 miles, as against 99,497 miles owned by private interests. State ownership preponderates in Asia, Africa and, of course, in Australia, too; but the respective mileages of these divisions of the globe are relatively small.—Bradstreet's.
